Claim Objections

Claim 22 objected to because of the following informalities: on line 5 of claim 22, it appears that "direct light a the material" should read "direct light at the material"; replace a with at. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4 and 22-28 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Lerner et al (4,945,252).

Lerner et al teach of a method and apparatus for detecting markings on a material comprising the steps of providing at least one marking, directing light via a laser at the marking that is made out of material which absorb in a first wavelength range and which fluoresce in a second wavelength range and examining the material by determining whether fluorescence from the marking is detected. The marking may be invisible or visible.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 5-21 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lerner et al (4,945,252).

Lerner et al teach of a method and apparatus for detecting markings on a material comprising the steps of providing at least one marking, directing light via a laser at the marking that is made out of material which absorb in a first wavelength range and which fluoresce in a second wavelength range and examining the material by determining whether fluorescence from is marking is detected. The marking may be invisible or visible component.

Lerner et al lacks the teaching of the material being carpet.

It has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647(1987). At the time the invention was made, one of ordinary skill in the art would have found it obvious to substitute measuring carpets for the broad teaching of measuring markings on a continuous web to detect for errors.
